TYPES OF INFORMATION WE COLLECT

At Bakehouse Kitchens, we collect, store, and utilise various types of personal information from individuals who visit and use our website. These include:

- Information You Provide: When you fill out forms on our website (such as contact/enquiry forms or client details forms), you may supply us with personal details. This information may include your name, address, email address, and phone number.
- Automatically Collected Information: During your visits to our website, we automatically collect data related to your browsing behaviour. This includes details such as the pages you visit, the duration of your stay, the source of your visit (date and time), page response times, clicks, downloaded documents, and any download errors.
- Cookies: Our website uses cookies to differentiate you from other users. Cookies enhance your browsing experience and allow us to improve our site.

HOW WE USE THE COLLECTED INFORMATION

We utilise the collected information in the following ways:

- Site Administration: We use the data for troubleshooting and statistical purposes, ensuring smooth site operation.
- Content Improvement: By analysing user behaviour, we enhance content presentation to provide an effective browsing experience.
- Security and Debugging: We take measures to keep our site safe and secure.

DISCLOSURE OF YOUR INFORMATION

Rest assured, we do not rent, sell, or share your personal information with other individuals or non-affiliated companies.
